

Measuring stations of surface and underground water for monitoring the ecological and chemical state

